NOT AN EXCEPTION

Of course, it was to be expected that somebody would complain that he had been slighted or that somebody in whom the public interest is interested was slighted and snubbed. This always happens. It is especially unfortunate that no carriage was sent for General Wheeler in the parade to Charleston, for perhaps there were more people who wanted to see Wheeler than any man at the nation. It is impossible that the failure to give General Wheeler a place in the parade was intentional, and we are glad to see that his daughter is sensible enough to say that she knows it was not intentional. But Governor Chandler, of Georgia, and his staff are now complaining that they were snubbed. It appears that the Governor and his staff were in the procession, but they are put out because the Georgians were not put in the front, and because Governor Chandler was not placed along side of Hampton and Gordon to review the parade. All of this sounds just a little silly. Everybody would be given first place, and it is a little disgusting to hear of such complainers.

On all such public occasions, there is always a supersensitive element who are so easily insulted and who feel themselves slighted and snubbed no matter what happens. The Charleston reunion would have been a most remarkable exception, if somebody had not felt slighted. More or less confusion will necessarily exist at such assemblies, and some oversights more or less serious are to be expected. Frequently they can not be explained, and the best thing to do is to say just as little about them as possible.

The advance made in the past year towards Imperialism, by the administration at Washington, should cause voters and lovers of liberty to pause and consider where we are being led. The President, who is the head of affairs, referred in a message to Congress about a year ago to forcible conquest as a crime, and setting on the same line Congress declared we were not interfering in Cuba for purposes other than the sake of humanity; of assisting an oppressed people in gaining the right to govern themselves, a God-given right. These declarations were made not for the purpose of influence, but for the purpose of showing to the world that we were not interfering in Cuba for purposes other than the sake of humanity; of assisting an oppressed people in gaining the right to govern themselves, a God-given right. These declarations were made not for the purpose of in-

GENERAL WHEELER'S remarks in his speech, at the reunion, in favor of expansion were in bad taste, and it is to be regretted that he should have said anything about "our new foreign policy." Besides, there is no force in his statement that the vast territory added to the United States in the past was under Southern Presidents. The case is quite different now. Then we were acquiring contiguous territory suitable in climate and every other respect for Americans; in fact it was American territory, and the new territory then acquired did not require a tremendous army and navy to protect and to keep the inhabitants in subjection. The case is quite different now. He would have the United States take territory on the other side of the world and with it millions of a half-civilized people—wholly unfit to attain to the standard of American citizenship.

General Wheeler is a great old hero. The South is proud of him, and it gladly honors him, but the conservative old South still holds to the fundamental principle that government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed.

IMPURE FOOD.
The court of inquiry into the army ration is followed by general investigations into the kind of food people have to eat. Prof. Mitchell, analytical chemist of the Wisconsin dairy and food commission, has been making some startling revelations. A fellow can't be too careful about his food, and care should be taken not so much as to what he eats as where he buys it. "The use of antiseptics as preservatives," says Prof. Mitchell, "has become alarmingly great. They are used as coloring and to stop the development of germs in dairy products; also in chopped meats, bulk oysters, fish, hams and possibly corned beef." Hamburg steak is considered a great delicacy, but, after Prof. Mitchell's statement, that it is treated with what is known as sulphide of soda, Hamburg steak should be eaten sparingly, if at all.

After all, we people in the South ought not to be alarmed, for there is no reason why we can not produce everything we eat right here at home, and thus make it absolutely sure that we are using food that is wholesome and absolutely free from all chemicals. In all of this dirt weather, in the last of spring, the roads are reported in a bad condition. The road to White Oak from Winnsboro, normally a good road, is rough and exceedingly uncomfortable for traveling in vehicles. The experience of the last few years is enough to convince people that if they are going to have good roads they must go down in their pockets and pay for them. The chain-gang does very well as far as its resources go, but good roads will not be obtained until the people make up their minds to have macadam roads. Ordinary dirt thrown up in the middle of a road will either wash away or become so badly cut by narrow tires that riding in a buggy across furrows is just about as easy.

The sponsors may not feel flattered by their pictures in the News and Courier, and may not want to see the reunion issues of the News and Courier again, but nevertheless these issues of the News and Courier are valuable historical documents and should be preserved. What is written about the sponsors is all right, and they can cut out their pictures, if they do not want future generations to see them, and preserve the reading matter. Our contemporary has done a most excellent piece of work, especially the issue of Wednesday. The article by Lieut. Grinnall, C. S. N., alone would warrant the careful preservation of this paper. The paper is full of information, and doubtless some day will be prized.

THE embalmed beef inquiry seems to have resulted only in a censure of Gen Miles and his friend Egan. Miles is blamed for having brought the charges and also blamed for not having brought them sooner. Egan is criticized for having bought too much of the beef. It seems that the outer walls of the beef were not the same as the inner walls.

It is very much to be regretted that the dirt weather has depressed the wheat crop prospects just at this time when the Oil and Fertilizer Company are erecting a flour mill in connection with their oil mill. The kind of expansion the South needs, and particularly Fairfield, is an expansion of our food crops.

THERE is some whisper talk that the Black Diamond Railroad is considering a route which will pass through Fairfield, and a gentleman connected with the scheme may visit Winnsboro shortly.

THE "embalmed beef report" is not very comforting to plain every day citizens. It reports that the beef is about the same offered to the general trade.

GENERAL GREELEY, of the Signal Corps, after experimenting with wireless telegraphy, reports that he does not think it will displace the old method.

BUCKLE UP NOTES.
Quite a number of the young people here attended the Catawba Falls picnic last Saturday. That night we had quite a heavy rain accompanied with considerable wind.
The young folks look very badly, owing to so much dirt weather. It seems they will be a total failure unless they can get plenty of rain right away.

Mr. Wray of Ridgeway has his telephone line to his place out here completed. Mr. B. F. Cassels also has a phone at his store and his line joins with Mr. Wray's. We can easily communicate with Ridgeway now.

Mrs. Mary Gibson was seriously hurt sometime ago by a cow running over and kicking her on the chest. She is getting about again, but has not entirely recovered.

Mrs. Dave Province is at her father's, Mr. B. F. Cassels. Dr. Province is expected soon, and, if we have been rightly informed, is to locate near Mr. Cassels. We are all delighted at the prospect of having him with us again.

The Misses Mellichampe returned home last Saturday from a visit to their old home near Ridgeway. While there they attended the Sunday School convention which was a very pleasant and instructive meeting.

Miss Maggie Hollis returned home yesterday after having made a very pleasant visit to relatives and friends in Rocky Mount.
Mr. R. W. Featherston from Rock Hill spent Sunday here with friends. Our efficient and much esteemed County Superintendent of Education, Mr. D. L. Stevenson, paid the Flint Hill school a visit last week. He has promised to return and be present at the calico carnival which will be held at the close of school on the evening of May 26th. He will make an address then setting forth his plans for a county high school or college for the boys and girls.

Through his efforts, Mr. Stevenson has gotten the finances of the schools in such an improved condition that the county is now able to furnish better facilities for the education of its children. I hope everyone who has the opportunity to hear this address will avail themselves of it.
Those on the honor roll this week at the Flint Hill Academy are: Minnie Milster, Kate Mellichampe, Mary Clark, Tucker Cassels, Harry Pickett. May 13, '99. M. C. P.

BLITHWOOD PARAGRAPHS.
Mr. James Price died at his home in Columbia on Tuesday, May 24th. His remains were brought up Wednesday evening and interred at the Asbury graveyard.

The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rimer, who reside in this place, has been critically ill with pneumonia, but is now slowly improving. There is a great deal of sickness in this community.

Miss Carrie Browne has been spending awhile in town with her sister, Mrs. M. Langford.

Blithwood was well represented at the reunion.

Mr. J. C. Hoffmann spent last Sunday at home.

Messrs. Clifton H. Wilson and W. H. Helms, of Myrtle, spent a few hours in "The City of Sand" last Friday afternoon.

Miss Marion Bookhardt spent a few days with relatives in Orangeburg en route to Charleston.

Miss Durdan was for a few days the guest at the residence of Dr. S. W. Bookhardt.

Mr. R. B. Watts, of the Second S. C. Regiment, and who has been in the hospital for several weeks, returned home last Saturday.

Mr. J. H. McLean made a short visit home a few days ago.

Mr. F. E. Hood now has charge of the livery stables at this place. Rides free.

ABOUT OAT RAISING.

Col. J. Moore Says Sow Oats in August.

Spartanburg Free Lance.
Editor of The Free Lance: Believing that our want of success in oat raising was due to our time of sowing, I determined last year to put my theory to the test, and so commenced in August to turn under with two horses, a pair of mares and a pair of geldings, the best of the "expansion policy," in derogation of Aginaldo's character and of his pretensions as a "leader" of his people. He has been denounced as a "brutalizer" and it has been asserted that he accompanied Admiral Dewey to the Philippines on one of his ships. Gen. King reports that while Admiral Dewey had high opinion of Aginaldo's personal

What Shall We Do.

A serious and dangerous disease prevails in this country, dangerous both to the farmer and the city dweller. It is slowly but surely taking its toll of our people. It is a disease which we have not yet learned to cure. It is a disease which we have not yet learned to prevent. It is a disease which we have not yet learned to live with. It is a disease which we have not yet learned to die with.

The name of this disease which may be divided into three distinct stages is, First, Kidney trouble, indicated by pain in the back, rheumatism, lameness, frequent urination, and a feeling of burning when urinating. The second stage is, Second, Bladder trouble, with heavy pain in the bladder and low down between the navel and the bladder, with a feeling of burning when urinating. The third stage is, Third, Urinary trouble, with a feeling of burning when urinating, and a feeling of burning when urinating.

If allowed to advance, this reaches the Second stage, or Bladder trouble, with heavy pain in the bladder and low down between the navel and the bladder, with a feeling of burning when urinating. The third stage is, Third, Urinary trouble, with a feeling of burning when urinating, and a feeling of burning when urinating.

"NOT ALL THEIR FAULT"

News and Courier.

Gen. Charles King, of Wisconsin, a retired officer of the regular army and a brigadier general of volunteers in Luzon, where he has made a fine record, has given the News and Courier an interesting information regarding the war in the Philippines. "I have a great deal of sympathy for these natives," he said, and he explains with soldierly truth and frankness the ground of his sentiments, as follows: "We allowed them to go ahead and establish a government. Our officers and men informally associated with their army officials, were at first to give them, and visited their headquarters, and then ignored them and the fact that they were a government. We ordered them back here and pushed them out of there, and admitted none of their rights as inhabitants and as the occupants of the islands. This fault is not all theirs. The natives were encouraged to fight and were furnished with arms by us in the beginning is an undisputed fact. Admiral Dewey told me, in talking of this subject: 'Although Aginaldo is somewhat of a personal coward, and a cowardly fellow, he is not a coward. When I brought him to Cavite he was afraid to sleep at night. He was very much discouraged over the natives' indifference to me, and told him to fight.'"

These are interesting and instructive statements of fact, certainly, to come from so high authority, and so far above any suspicion of "treason" or "disloyalty" to the flag of the Administration. It is to be borne in mind that the speaker is himself a general officer in our army in the islands, and has achieved distinction in the war in which it is engaged, yet he states flatly, in contradiction of so much that has been said by the contrary in this country, that at the outset of our relations with the Filipino patriots, "we allowed them to go ahead and establish a government"—the self same government which our own government and its representatives in the island now shake such point on.

LIEUT. FITZ' LEE IN THE OLD SECOND CAVALRY.
Lieutenant Lee had no superior in the regiment as a horseman, and he finally became the proud owner of Bumble Bee, one of the fastest and most famous horses in the regiment. Bumble Bee had cut a great figure in a number of races, campaigns and Indian fights before Lee owned him. He had won a year or so before, a famous race known as the "Fort Mason Derby," against Lieutenant Jenifer's well-known horse, Gray Eagle, and from that time forth became the most coveted charger in the regiment. Bumble Bee was a slaying, thoroughbred Glencoe colt, by imported Glencoe. He had great style, and for a large horse, was a perfect working animal. Power, courage and activity were in every line of him. He was one of the fastest horses in Texas, but was wild, tamable and difficult to manage. He was great for a thousand yards dash, but beyond that distance he would throw up his tail and low his great, slashing stride, and become unreliable and often vicious. He was also hard to start well, but when started he was a terror for speed. Fitz Lee loved this horse the moment he first laid eyes on him, and determined to be his owner. He finally bought him from Captain Nathan G. Evans ("Shanks Evans"), of the regiment. When Lee had fully recovered from his arrow wound, a famous race was gotten up at Camp Radzinski, between Lieutenant Lee and Lieutenant William B. Royal, in which each man was to ride his own horse. Lee, of course, brought out Bumble Bee against anything in horse flesh. Lieutenant Royal had a horse he had bought at Fort Smith, Ark., which, like Bumble Bee, had won every race he had been in until that time. The race was run in the presence of the entire garrison, and stands in the traditions of the old Second Cavalry as a memorable event. Bumble Bee, as usual, was nervous and frantic at the race in prospect. His start was bad, and it seemed as if he never would catch up his famous long stride. His eyes flashed out his wicked temper, and his ugly snarl was heard all over the place. However, by his beautiful and clean-cut ears, Lieutenant Lee rode him as he alone knew how to ride, and managed him admirably. The race was a close one, but Bumble Bee, amid great hurrahs and cheering, scored another victory. When Lieutenant Lee was detailed cavalry instructor at West Point he sold Bumble Bee at San Antonio, and he passed into unknown hands. William S. Brackett, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May.

DONT.

Now that the Wade court of inquiry has made its report on General Miles' charges against the army best, and the findings have been approved by the President, it is to be hoped, for the sake of the country at large, that no board of investigation will be appointed to clear up the charges that will be brought against the Wade court, by those who fall under its condemnation. Then, too, the court has, like its predecessor, the war investigation commission, performed the worst for which it was appointed in the very first instance.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty to me to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A. W. Jones of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. LYNN, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy is sold by McMaster Co.
